Precious Metals

From the Philadelphia Press.

When art and science slept, nature made her economy perfect by placing man amid the spontaneous growth of the East. As the adjuncts of civilization sprung up, the human race pushed westward, and at every movement it has brought into requisition greater varieties of soil and climate, and made every production of the earth tribute to its enterprise. This continent completes the transit of humanity around the globe. It is believed to be not only the place of final experiment in all things pertaining to human destiny, but in the relationship of man to God. It is, as it were, the second Eden, where man is on trial again, with the tree of good and evil before him, but with the means of escaping its baneful fruit provided. Let him who will, eat and die, or abstain and live!

The composite character of that territory included in the United States, or, if we choose to look further through the spectacles of destiny, the continent of North America, which will be the future United States, affords abundant evidence of the Providential design, that here slumbers the materials necessary for the ultimate independence of mankind. That our soil, the richest in the world, needs rejuvenating; that our minerals sleep snugly in the arms of mountain-covered rocks; that our climate must be guarded against in its not unpleasant extremes, that good morals require carefully studied regulations; that Government must be guarded sedulously against insidious and open attack, all go to heighten man's responsibility and cause him to draw incontinently upon the appliances which Heaven metes only to the deserving. All the auxiliaries of development abound in a richness and profusion which eclipse even the dreams of trans Atlantic adventurers. One of the potential arms which go to make our continental entirety, to increase national and individual wealth, and, if rightly used, to enhance human happiness, is the precious metals.

If in anything we vie with Europe or the East, or if in any excel, 'tis certain that, in auriferous and argentiferous deposits, comparison becomes a feeble means of expressing their vastness and richness. It is well for us that the Dorado which impeopled Spain, and gave reins to the perfidy of Pizarro, was located by fable among the Andes. It is well that the ambition of Cortez met with cloyment amid the halls of the Montezumas. It is well De Soto found glory and a grave beneath the turbid waves of the Mississippi. Else would the Territories of the United States, which are now unfolding their wealth and pouring it in augmenting streams into the lap of a fostering and enlightened Government, have been peopled by a revengeful and rapacious race, and perhaps been subject to a dynasty which breathed poison over a third of the civilized world, and which is now engaged in purging itself of inate rottenness.

That science which has enabled man to reconstruct the earth, and account for all the phenomena of metalliferous growth and deposit, has spanned the United States with two jeweled phylacteries, each passing in the direction of and hugging the eastern base of the Appalachian and Rocky Mountain chains. Whilst on the Atlantic coast this description may serve to bring within the limits of reasonable comprehension the gold and silver-bearing localities on the Pacific, it will afford but a dim criterion of extent. We must conceive of measureless areas of alternate prairie and mountain; of bewildering mazes of jutting spurs and threading canyons; of parks which open into luxuriant stretches, rivaling in size the untrodden pampas of Brazil, and within which the largest States of Europe could nestle. All these constitute the gold and silver producing regious of the Pacific.

The Atlantic States which yield gold in workable quantities are Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama. In 1829 the first deposit of gold from Virginia was made in the mint, the sum deposited being $2,500. From that period up to 1861, from $50,000 to $100,000 were taken out annually, and the net yield for the whole time may be set down as considerably over $1,500,000. From 1804 to 1827, North Carolina furnished all the gold of the United States, amounting, according to returns at the mint, to $170,000. The aggregate of all her gold yield up to 1866, according to data from the same source, is about $9,300,000. Gold mining began in South Carolina in 1829, since which returns have been made to the mint of $1,354,000. Georgia has yielded a total product of $6,971,681; Tennessee about $81,500, and Alabama $201,235, since 1838. The products of the Atlantic States may then be set down at $19,500,000 returned to the mint, and if we allow an equal amount to have passed unnoticed directly into commerce, we shall have about $39,000,000 as the total yield of those States.

This is a trifling miniature compared with the full-length portrait presented by the West. Previous to 1848 the minister was accustomed to gild his pictures of wealth with the sands of Hiddekel, and the poet and orator to cap the climax of lavish munificence with mental etchings of Potosi and the Dorado. But in that year the flowery dreams of antiquity were broken by the modern reality of the American river of California. The tail race of a saw mill at Columa was a surer mine of wealth than all the sluices of Golconda. The twenty years that have elapsed since then have thrown upon the world more than one billion dollars of gold and one hundred million dollars of silver, the product of our Western possessions alone. The Rocky Mountains and the Sierras, from summits beyond the eye's reach, but not beyond the storms, have been since the creation lining the valleys with wealth producing detritus. If from this source, almost alone, such a harvest has been reaped, what may we not expect when the parent crests are pierced, when the slow pick and shovel are superseded by the lacerating powder, and nitro-glycerine, and when every train of cars that wends its way to the Pacific will carry from the workshops of the East the ponderous quartz crusher and the subtle tools of the refiner? Billions will not only multiply, but mining will become an exact science, and "miner" will be no longer a term loaded down with the idioms and habits of border civilization.

The average product per annum of gold and silver from the Western States and Territories for the last three or four years ranges from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000. Quartz mining is in helpless infancy for want of proper machinery. Placer mining exhausts no locality, but follows the richest channels. Hydraulic mining is tedious and awaits capital. Only the adventurous people enter the mining country, for it amounts to a virtual ostracism from society.

Such are the feeble appliances that rain upon bountiful showers of gold and silver. When they are increased and strengthened and refined by the influences now eager to burst the mountain barriers and embrace them, our annual supply of the precious metals may safely be set down at from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Every school boy is familiar with the stories of riches which Mexico gave to Spain. For centuries the stream unceased, and since the independence of the country her mines have failed not to meet the draughts of her own treasury. From 1521, the date of the Spanish conquest, until the present time, the silver product is set down at $6,011,452,000, and the gold at $151,000,000, a total of $[illegible],452,000, or an annual average of $9,500,000.

We shall skip the product of Central America as too unimportant for comparative purposes, and pass to that other treasure-house of Spain, and the seat of her greatest outrage upon humanity, South America. Here was the Dorado—here Potosi—here the home of the wealth-burdened Incas. Since the Spanish foothold, which was coincident with the discovery of the continent, the aggregate of silver product is computed at $2,8[illegible], and of gold at $1,[illegible], a total of $1,676,07[illegible], or an annual yield in round numbers of $12,500,000.

Europe and Asiatic Russia, during the above periods, have contributed $1,76[illegible] of precious metals, or an average of [illegible] less than $6,000,000. The far famed fields of Australia and New Zealand are the only ones that approach our own in productiveness. They have during the sixteen years since their discovery, yielded $8[illegible] of gold and silver, an annual average of nearly $60,000,000. The products of Asia and Africa, though considerable, are [illegible] defined to calculate on.

Here, then, we have the picture of our country's greatness in this single respect. A young state or two, a vast territorial expanse just appearing on the horizon of civilization, [illegible] almost inaccessible, [illegible] whence are gleaned half the world's annual production of the precious metals. How many weary years must drag their slow length along before Mexico can surpass the average yield of the past fifty years? How many centuries must [illegible] the mountains of Potosi are crossed with [illegible] avaricious [illegible] at the Australian [illegible] the [illegible] discovery. The mines of Siberia will decrease in value so soon as [illegible] How different! The energies of a whole nation are turned to its gold bearing possessions. They are in the direct march of civilization. They have other inducements than their quartz ledges and silver lodes. They will support a teeming population. No place in all earth's borders is capable of uniting more of earth's favors. The soil, the spindle and the mountain shaft will conspire to make a future people happy and crown them with a wealth before which Persian affluence will pale. If eloquence and rhyme continue to paint portraits of the golden times and the mythical realms where palaces were built of silver, we may safely offer to hang them in solid frames of gold.

Superstition in India

Rev. Mr. Noyes, a missionary of the American Board, stationed at Cambarn, in Southern India, writes that the barbarous practice of hook swinging has been revived in that section of India, and he describes an occasion of this sort which he witnessed last summer. It is surprising that the British Government, which once forbade this inhuman rite, should allow the priests to again inflict it upon the people. We copy his account as given in the Missionary Herald:

"Recently, while laboring in the itinerancy, I witnessed the "hook-swinging festival." At the beginning of this festival, the priest of the pagoda sends the sacred ashes, and other things to a person whom he selects as a victim to be suspended. On the reception of these gifts, the man commences a fast, denying himself all bodily indulgence. On the day fixed for the celebration of the feast, he enters the temple with pomp and ceremony, and appears before the idol. The priest performs a ceremony over him, uttering munthrams, or heathen forms of prayer and he pretends to be under the influence of devils and acts like a madman. While in this state, some person standing by gives him a violent blow on the back, which produces a slight swelling. The muscle is here pierced in two places, and openings are made sufficient for the insertion of the iron hooks, which are immediately introduced, and then pressures are applied on every side of the wound, to prevent the issue of the blood, gently increasing the man's sufferings. The fact that no blood flows is regarded by the people as a miraculous interposition. After these preliminaries the man is taken to the machine upon which he is to be suspended, and swung about. This consists of a four-wheeled platform car, in the center of which is an upright post, twenty or thirty feet high, and upon the top of it is a transverse beam, forty feet long, fitted to work like a well sweep, and also to be swung around in a circle. Upon one end of this beam, the hooks already inserted in the man's back are fastened by strong ropes. Long ropes are also attached to the other end, by means of which several men manage its motions.

The victim is first swung around in a circle, and then raised high in the air, while the multitude below fill the air with their shouting. In going up he favors himself by catching hold of the rope with his hands, but pretty soon lets go, and is suspended by the hooks inserted in his back, being bent almost double, his head and feet hanging, and the muscles of his back being pulled out to their utmost tension. While he is hanging in this position, the car is drawn by hundreds of men over rough ground, around the temple, the man being shaken and tossed from side to side by the motion of the car. It was a full hour, by my watch, that I saw the man suspended. His countenance was a picture of distress, and when taken down he seemed much exhausted.

He is next presented to the people to receive their offerings, and receives large presents of money and lands—property such as he could not have accumulated by the labor of years. He is now taken to his house, the hooks are removed, and his wounds are treated by the application of small cakes of mud, made so hot as to burn the skin. Three of those plasters are placed on each wound and kept there for seven days, when they are taken off and other medicines applied. This is a severe treatment, but the wounds are said to be effectually healed by it in twenty days, if the man survives it. On the first day he suffers but little, because he is made insensible by intoxicating drugs and potions. On the second and succeding days his sufferings are so great that he will often attempt to commit suicide: but as he is strictly watched by his friends, he finds no opportunity, and the deed is seldom done.

The barbarous practice of hook-swinging was discontinued for many years in the Madura District, until it was again revived in 1867, and as the people have come to understand that the Government will not interfere to prevent it, it is likely to become a common occurrence. I estimate the number of persons present on this occasion at 15,000.

LINEN AND FLAX. There was a considerable falling off in the declared value of linen manufactures exported from Great Britain and Ireland to the United States in the first ten months of 1868, as compared with corresponding periods of 1866 and 1867. For example, these manufactures were imported into the United States, to the value of £3,498,420 in the year 1866, of £2,451,730 in 1867, and of £2,127,039 in 1868. From this may be inferred either that our native manufacture of linen has much increased in the last two years, or that consumption has decreased. The former is most probable. Very little flax is grown in England and Scotland, but its cultivation is steadily increasing in Ireland. Most of the flax manufactured in the United Kingdom is grown in foreign countries. The value, in the first ten months of 1868 was £[illegible],701,321 viz from Russia, £2,573,492, Holland £335,385, Belgium £47[illegible] [illegible] other countries £3[illegible]5,248. If we only took the trouble, and we ought, for it is very remunerating, we could readily grow an immense quantity of the finest flax in the world, in many parts in the Union. It flourishes in any temperate climate, but requires weeding and water. In Belgium its cultivation has almost reached the dignity of a science, and the finest product brings from $500 to $900 per ton the yield actually exceeding in value the land which produced it. In 1851 a patent for "cottoning" flax was obtained by Chevalier Claussen. The seed as well as the fibre is valuable yielding the capital drying Linseed Oil; the crushed mass remaining being the well known oil-cake so efficacious in feeding cattle. Yet we are content with importing seed cake, and fibre giving the profits to foreign producers.—Poughkeepsie Press.

POLITICAL MORALITY. In his lecture on "Political Morality," George William Curtis uses the following language: Is there a different standard of morality for individuals and nations? May a nation without blame do what a man may not do without dishonor? I remember I was in Boston when Anthony Burns, the last fugitive slave, was delivered back to slavery from Massachusetts. I think it was about one thousand years ago. I say it was in the dark ages. A friend of mine who thought the law was [illegible] marched down State street with a [illegible] and tears in his eyes [illegible] [illegible] erable.

Bayard Taylor has returned from Europe and is in New York.

A HARD HIT AT NAPOLEON.—Rochefort has never dealt a keener blow at Napoleon III. than the following, which appears in No. 29 of the Lanterne, dated Aix la Chapelle, Dec. 11, 1868:

A journal, relating that the President of the United States, that is to say, the Chief of the most powerful State in the world, receives a salary of only ninety-two thousand francs, adds not without irony, that this is a little less than the Emperor of the French spends every day.

One must know how to do justice even to our enemies. If the Emperor receives a civil list three hundred and seventy times larger than that of the President of the United States we should bear in mind that his expenses are by far more considerable.

Thus for instance Napoleon III recruited a whole army, and equipped a whole fleet for the conquest of Mexico, which naturally necessitated the expenditure of frightful sums of money.

The President of the United States, on the other hand, had not to spend a single sou, inasmuch as he only had to make a significant gesture in order to cause the terrible Napoleon the Third to let his troops and men-of-war leave Mexico at the top of their speed.

The Emperor, besides, has old mistresses to provide for, to subvention accomplices, to pay hush-money, and to distribute diamond crosses. All this, however, you cannot get into the heads of malicious journalists. These blockheads are stupid enough to imagine that it costs nothing to have oneself defended by such disinterested servants as M. Rouher.

STOW FOUNDATION PAVEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 18, 1869.

Hon. Frank McCoppin, Mayor of San Francisco—Dear Sir: You have now been connected with our City Government as Supervisor and Mayor for the past nine years, during which time you must have given a great deal of attention to Street Paving, and I now ask it as a special favor to me, that you give briefly, in writing, the result of your convictions relative to the several styles of street paving now in use in this city. By so doing you will much oblige

Your obedient servant,
H. F. WILLIAMS,
President Stow Foundation Pavement Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20th, 1869.

Henry F. Williams, Esq., President of the S. F. P. Co.—Dear Sir: Your communication of yesterday, requesting me to give in writing my opinion relative to the several kinds of street pavement now in use in this city, is before me, and in reply I would say, that at the time I became a municipal officer of this city, in 1860, and for many years thereafter cobble-stone was the only kind of pavement used by the city in its corporate, and by individuals in their individual capacity. About five years ago the Nicolson pavement was introduced here by Mr. J. J. Robbins, assignee of the owner of the patent, and was received with much favor by our citizens. Very many portions of our streets are now paved with the Nicolson Pavement, so-called—still later—that is to say, about two years ago, the "Stow Foundation Pavement" was introduced here by the inventor, and many of our public streets have since been paved with that pavement.

A sufficient length of time has, I think, elapsed, to enable any person who has given the subject any attention, to form an intelligent opinion as to the merits of the respective wooden pavements—of course, I leave the cobble-stones out of view entirely—and I have come to the conclusion, that, in many respects, such as adaptability to our wants and in durability, the Stow is the superior pavement. But, were the two pavements equal in every other respect, the facility with which the Stow can be taken up and relaid, whenever it becomes [illegible] to displace it for the purpose of laying down gas and water pipes, should, in my judgment, entitle it to [illegible] and public favor.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
FRANK McCOPPIN,
Mayor of the City of San Francisco.

We, the undersigned, have carefully read the above letter from his Honor, Frank McCoppin, to H. F. Williams, Esq., upon the subject of street paving, and we fully indorse every word it contains.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, Feb. 19, 1869.

On the 18th, gold at New York was 134⅞.

Legal Tenders at San Francisco, 75@76—the highest quotation within the last two years.

New York Market, Feb. 17th—Pacific coast flour, $6@ ...0 50; wheat, $1 50@2; hides, 21@21½; wool, 25c ...0c for fall, and 20@37½ for spring clip.

Liverpool—Quotations of Pacific coast wheat 11s—a decline of 4d since our last report, and a decline of 3d from the 16th.

San Francisco market—Flour, 2,000 qr sks Santa Clara ...uperfine for China, private; 1,000 qr sks extra local ...rands, $5 75; quotable $4 75@5 25, according to the ...rand. Wheat, inferior, $1 62½; fair shipping, $1 70@ ...72½; fair distillery, $2 72½; choice shipping, $1 75. ...arley, good feed, $2 15; quotable at $1 05@2 20, and ...or fair to choice brewing, $2 20@2 30. Oats, 700 sks ...regon, $2 17½; quotable at $2 15@2 25; California, ...2@2 20.

Portland market—Flour unchanged. Wheat is bringing a little better figures than heretofore quoted, owing to limited receipts and the immediate demand for shipment by vessels now due or on the way. The steamship Continental, the barks Osmyn and the Helen Angier and the brig North Star are on the way and soon to arrive. The bark Whistler is also expected from the Sandwich Islands within the month, and all are to load principally with breadstuffs. The bark Live Yankee is now in port and will also load with produce for San Francisco. The desire to make up these cargoes promptly, creates a temporary activity among buyers and accounts for the slightly improved figures for wheat to be found in our quotations. Dried apples are becoming rather scarce and wanted. We quote an advance. Supplies of ground feed are in excess and we note a decline of $5 per ton. These constitute the only notable changes in our tables of produce. There are no certain indications of a permanent improvement in prices of produce generally. In all eastern markets, prices are steadily sinking and, notwithstanding the temporary local demand mentioned above, the probabilities are all in favor of a reduction of the prices at quotations at no very remote period. The favorable weather of the winter has given our farmers excellent opportunities for seeding, and the news from all parts of the State is to the effect that an unusual breadth of grain is being sown. The anticipation of a large crop the coming season will, of course, induce a general desire to push off the present stores, and this must result in a depression of prices.

The merchandise market is a little more active than during last month, and in a marked degree better than during the corresponding period of last year. We note, especially, an improvement in building hardware. Consumers will be pleased to note that syrups are again going down. We quote a decline since last report of 5c per gallon, of all leading brands.

Retail trade for the week has been better than for some time.

The retail family markets are well supplied with all standard articles.

CHANGE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Seully have been obliged for their own protection and the safety of the public, to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

MERCADO'S
Native California Wine
BITTERS

We subjoin the following affidavit in an injunction suit formerly pending between Mercado & Seully, plaintiffs, and G. A. Simon, defendant:

P. Sainsevain, being duly sworn, says, "That the article known as Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Seully, about the month of March, 1861, without the said Sainsevain Brothers having any concern in the manufacture thereof. The deponent has always known and considered said Mercado & Seully as the Sole Proprietors of the Sainsevain California Wine Bitters."

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Sainsevain is putting up a compound under the name of Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters, which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1860, and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED! Send for

NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1860. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label, and see that the words, "MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO," are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitations.

Depot—506 and 508 Jackson street, San Francisco.

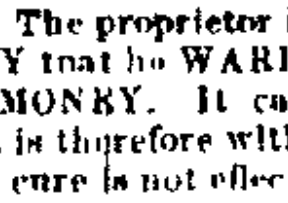
HIRAM SMITH'S



Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c, as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE, NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE, G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY, JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER, ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

NOTES.

Proposals must be to carry the mail with "celerity, certainty and security," in the terms of the law, and they must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to as such by a postmaster or judge of a court of record.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connections with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, for neglecting to take the mail from or into a postoffice, for suffering it to be injured, robbed, or lost, and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running vehicles on the route. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the post office laws or the instructions of the Department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may also curtail or discontinue the service in whole or in part at a pro rata decrease of pay, allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Oregon," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposal, &c., and other information, see advertisement of this date, in pamphlet form, at the principal post offices.

ALEX. W. RANDALL,

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to every thing of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,
AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

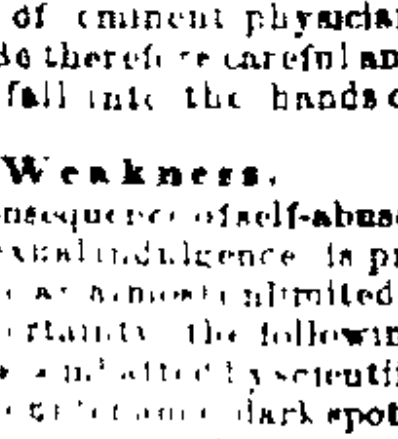
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable [illegible] once from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down [illegible] tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let, then, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves or rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. [illegible] relief be not obtained should apply [illegible] either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treatment [illegible] never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use [illegible] registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Mysterious Robbery.—Yesterday morning about half past three o'clock, Mrs. Mary Lee, at the Patton House, was robbed in a very mysterious manner of nearly five hundred dollars. Officers Brannan and Bothwell were called in at about the hour above mentioned. Mrs. Lee was in a state of great excitement; but she told her story as coherently as she could, and after some questioning the officers concluded that her story was true and that the thief was still in the house. She said she had been drinking some the evening before, but not to excess; that upon retiring to bed she secreted her money, in two purses, in her bosom, that she thought the liquor she had drunk affected her strangely, but not like ordinary intoxication, that about half-past three o'clock she awoke startled and feeling strangely, with an impression that she was robbed, though she saw nobody; that feeling for her money she discovered that it was gone. She jumped out of bed and lit a candle, saw money scattered around on the floor but could see no person. She immediately ran down stairs and informed the night watchman of the house what had happened. While he was gone for an officer, she went back to her room, when greatly to her surprise, not a piece of the money she had seen on the floor could be found. While she was relating her story to the officers below, they distinctly heard the jingling of money, as they thought, up stairs. After closing the outside doors the officers went up stairs to search, the night watchman going with them. The latter entered the parlor, where he found a number of coins on the floor. The officers being informed of this went in and upon looking around, found all the money scattered in various places. The woman saw nobody, nor was she conscious at any time that anybody was in her room; nor did the officers find anybody but the regular boarders or guests, and they were all in bed; but it was evident that the robbery was committed by some inmate of the house who finding himself about to be trapped, threw the money into the parlor and retired. As yet suspicion has fastened upon no one in particular, and the whole affair affords nothing but mystery.

Religious Intelligence.—The following religious intelligence is from the Advocate: Rev. N. Doane, Presiding Elder, reports about 175 conversions and accessions to the Church within his district during the present quarter.....We rejoice to hear from Bro. Wilbur that there are refreshing indications of revival among the Indians. ....Rev. J. D. Driver has been detained in Portland during the week. He and Bro. Waller have rendered efficient aid in the protracted meeting.......The infant class, under the care of Mrs. E. B. DeVore, in the M. E. Sabbath-school, numbers nearly one hundred little boys and girls......We regret to learn from Bro. A. L. Nicklin, that Rev. David Leslie is lying dangerously ill at his residence in Salem. Father Leslie has ever been a safe counsellor and sound theologian. Salem Charge—The report of the pastor of this charge for the present quarter showed an addition to the membership of 43 on probation and 16 by letter. The Sunday school has a registered attendance of 350, and an average of 264......Buena Vista Circuit—Rev. J. S. McCain reports a gracious revival within the bounds of this circuit; over 20 conversions and 17 accessions to the Church.....Hillsboro Circuit—We learn that the revival spirit on this work continues. Bro. Turner is engaged in an interesting meeting at Hillsboro. Some thirty accessions to the Church are reported since Conference. ... Grand Mound Circuit—The good news is received that at nearly every appointment on this circuit a revival spirit is manifested, and souls are being saved. Bro. J. H. B. Royal says: "We preach, and are having a present salvation. Near thirty have professed conversion, and twenty-two have joined on probation."

Dalles News.—We obtain from the Mountaineer of yesterday, the particulars of the losses by the late fire. It says: "Max Voxt, by the assistance of a number of citizens, managed to save quite a large amount of property. Philip Peck & Co.'s loss amounts to $28,000; insured for $15,000. Max Voxt's stock of goods and building were worth about $15,000, and insured at $7,500." The following items are clipped from the Mountaineer: Information is wanted of the whereabouts of one Dr. C. Whitcomb, who came down from Boise City, and is supposed to be at Portland. Any one knowing of his whereabouts will confer a favor by informing Mr. Reuben Bread of this city......The weather for the past week has been of a most unusual character at this season of the year, mild and balmy as at early spring, and the sun pouring down his rays with a warmth that has caused the snow to rapidly disappear from the surrounding hills. The roads are rapidly drying up and in a few days will be in excellent traveling order.......Mr. Marsh Gilman, book-keeper of the firm of French & Co. of this city, leaves on the next [illegible] for San Francisco, from thence it is his intention of taking a stock of goods to White Pine......Mr. Newman, of the firm of D. [illegible] & Co. of this city, left last week for San F[illegible]. We learn that he will shortly leave that city with a stock of goods for the Amoor river, and we are also told that a wife will accompany him on his journey.

Oregon City Items.—We clip the subjoined items from the Oregon City Enterprise, of last evening: Several very bad cases of [illegible] are reported in this city. Our soliciting physicians are kept [illegible] on the visit. ....We have received a sack of Oregon City Mills flour, which certainly looks as well as any flour in the State. The [illegible] of our Interior will [illegible] upon it......The weather is beautiful. People generally are making gardens...... A special meeting of the Council was held on Thursday evening, at which important business was transacted. The streets are to be cleaned and hose and apparatus furnished the Fire Department......Messrs. J. L. Barlow and W. C. Johnson, of this city, have commenced a suit against the P. T. Company to eject them from encumbering private property with the outside line of their breakwater, or basin improvement. It seems peculiar that a company claiming the ability that is usually accredited to the P. T. Co., should go on and put up as expensive works as this basin without first securing title to the lands upon which it is constructed. Col. Jas. K. Kelly and Hon. S. Heulat have been employed by plaintiffs......All the remains of the Wallamet Steamboat Company, we learn, is to-day advertised for sale in our columns, by Sheriff Myers......The steamer Wenat is out of service, and the P. T. Co. have been for several days carrying opposition freight to Portland from this city.

Boat Stealing.—Of late there have been numerous cases of boat stealing along the shores of this city and East Portland. The boats, in every instance, have broken loose chain and padlock fastenings. In a few cases, where the thieves could break the boats loose, they have taken the oars. Mr. P. H. Parrott, who resides at East [illegible], lost in this way, last week, a small boat which cost him forty-five dollars. On Thursday evening he [illegible] of a neighbor to come over to this side. [illegible] o'clock he started to go back; but upon [illegible], he found that this boat had been [illegible]. The chain and padlock were both gone. He [illegible] and inquiry both up and down the river, without, however, learning anything of either of the boats. Other parties have also lost small boats during the winter. The boat thieves would do well to let up; for a number of owners are adopting means to discover who are the perpetrators, and some of the rogues may yet meet with an astounding reception when about to embark.

Velocipedes.—Who shall say that the Portland mechanics are not enterprising? Several of them, in anticipation of the breaking out of the velocipede mania, have engaged in the manufacture of the novelty, and several of the "machines" are nearly ready to be turned loose upon the public. Messrs. J. L. Thomas & Co. will have one done to-day, with an improvement in the driving crank, for which Mr. Thomas has already filed a caveat for a patent. The improvement consists of a slotted arm in which the wrist may be set so as to make any desired stroke from two to eighteen inches. None of the cuts yet shown exhibit such an arrangement, though it is [illegible] that it is an important one, as the driving gear can, by it, be made to accommodate persons of less differing in length. Thomas, Ball, Bilge & Co., propose to manufacture them in numbers to suit the demand, and at a cost much below the stated eastern prices.

Circuit Court—Upton, Judge.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday in the Circuit Court:

State of Oregon vs. Jack Williams, indicted for larceny; plead not guilty.

State of Oregon vs. James Lamb; indicted for larceny; plead not guilty.

State of Oregon vs. John Williams; indicted for larceny; plead not guilty.

State of Oregon vs. D. F. Fox, indicted for larceny; arraigned and allowed until next Tuesday morning to plead.

State of Oregon vs. James Conley; indicted for murder in the first degree, arraigned and allowed until to-morrow morning to plead.

The Grand Jury ignored Bills against W. G. Welch and Barney McKinney.

M. M. McCormick vs. Wm Sherlock; action to recover [illegible]ion of personal property; M. H. Mulkey for plaintiff; Stout & Reed for defendant.

Grain and Produce Warehouse.—We learn that parties in this city are about to organize a joint stock company for the purpose of building a large brick warehouse for the storing of grain and produce. It is probable, too, that the company will buy and sell for interior dealers and farmers, on commission. Such an institution is needed here. There are several warehouses, but they are frequently full to overflowing and being of wood, they are not proof against rats, which are numerous and destructive. The brick warehouse in contemplation may be made entirely secure from vermin of all sorts. We are not advised as to its location.

Stall-fed Beef.—People who appreciate good fat beef steaks will be glad to learn that Spaulding & Cline have just made a purchase of several very fat stall-fed steers which they propose to serve from the block to their customers. They had four of them on exhibition in front of their market, yesterday, large, fat and sleek looking fellows.

Cliff House Ball.—For the accommodation of such persons in this city as may desire to attend the ball at the Cliff House, Oregon City, on Monday evening, the steamer Senator will delay her departure till half past three o'clock P. M. Starting at that hour, guests will reach Oregon City just about supper time.

Removal.—The First National Bank of Portland was removed yesterday from its old quarters on Front street, to Ladd & Tilton's new bank building, adjoining Ladd & Tilton's bank. It will be ready to-day to resume its ordinary routine of business.

Grape Cuttings.—Mr. J. F. Street, of East Portland, has lately received several thousand grape cuttings of early and hardy varieties from the vineyards of California, and is prepared to forward them upon orders to any part of the country.

The morning services in the Unitarian Church and the Sunday School, are unavoidably omitted to-morrow, owing to uncompleted work in the building. Services in the evening at Oro Fino Hall. Subject—"The present Heaven."

Gang Plows.—Those interested in such matters should call at Captain Hopkin's store and examine the sweepstakes gang plows now exhibited there. Mr. J. F. Street of East Portland, is agent.

Emmet Guard.—A meeting of this company is called for this evening at half past seven. We learn that it is the intention of the company to celebrate Washington's birth by a parade.

Anecdote of Gen. Washington.—Washington had accepted an invitation from Arnold to breakfast with him at West Point on the very day the plot was discovered, but was prevented from keeping his engagement by what men call chance. At the earnest request of an old officer, near whose station they passed, to spend the night there and inspect the works in the neighborhood. Next day while Washington with his staff, including La Fayette, were seated at table at this officer's quarters, a dispatch was brought to the American General, which he immediately opened and read, then laid it down, without comment. No alteration was visible in his countenance, but he remained perfectly silent. Conversation dropped among his suite, and after some minutes, the general beckoning La Fayette to follow him, passed to an inner apartment, turned to his young friend without uttering a syllable, placed the fatal dispatch in his hands, and then, giving way to an ungovernable burst of feeling, fell on his neck and sobbed aloud. The effect produced on the young French marquis, accustomed to regard his general cold and dignified in his usual manner and devoid of the usual weakness of humanity, may be imagined. "I believe," said La Fayette in relating this anecdote, "that this was the only occasion, throughout that long and sometimes hopeless struggle, that Washington ever gave way, even for a moment under a reverse of fortune; and perhaps I was the only human being who ever witnessed in him an exhibition of feeling so foreign to his temperament. As it was, he recovered himself before I had perused the communication that had given rise to his emotion, and when we returned to his staff not a trace remained on his countenance either of grief or despondency."—"Beyond the Breaker," in Feb. No. of Lippincott's Magazine.

The body of William Penn lies in a little church-yard scarcely twenty miles from London. The church and surroundings nestle in a deep gorge among the Chiltern hills, in Buckinghamshire. The grave is enclosed in a little square of hedge, and no marble or other ornaments mark the spot. The founder of Pennsylvania had but little in life in common with English pageantry. In death, only the faithful can guide the stranger to his grave. His philosophy and religion were of that kind which needed a country like America to develop in.

D. Appleton & Co. will shortly commence the publication of a Weekly Journal of Popular Literature, Science, and Art. In the first number, Victor Hugo's new romance, "By Command of the King," will be commenced. The "Journal" will have several original and distinctive features, and will be conducted with a view as to its value as an organ of thought, as well as to the means of supplying a varied, sound, and entertaining literature.

Enterprise Triumphant.—The Oregon Dispensary is establishing a reputation second to no house on the coast as a first class and Cheap Drug Store.

Our success has been so flattering that we have sent for another Apothecary. We have also secured the valuable services of Dr. J. A. Chapman as Consulting Surgeon and Physician, thus giving evidence of our desire to afford the best of everything to our patrons for their liberal patronage.

LORYEA & KALLENBERG,
73 First street.

Opposition Line of Steamers.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated Steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland. The steamers are known to be suitable for the Oregon trade, and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers, at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether they will remain in our waters or not.

While you think of opposition, remember that KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, have the finest stock of Clothing and Dry Goods, and sell at very low prices.

A neglected Cough, Cold or sore Throat, which might be checked by a simple remedy, like "Brown's Bronchial Troches," if allowed to progress may terminate seriously. For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh and Consumptive Coughs "The Troches" are used with advantage, giving oftentimes immediate relief. Singers and public speakers will find them also excellent to clear the voice and render articulation wonderfully easy.

Dancing Academy.—Prof. Cardinell's classes are held every week-day evening, and on Saturday afternoon for children. Hall in Poppleton's Building, First street.

Night School.—Mr. Fitzgerald has opened a Night School in the schoolhouse (up stairs) near the Catholic Church. For Terms—See the Teacher.

PRATT'S ABOLITION OIL!
A Family Remedy, recommended by its merits. Every Bottle its own testimonial! Use it externally for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Lame Back, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff and Swollen Joints, Pleurisy, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Headache and Toothache. Take it internally for Colic, Cramps, Cholera Morbus, and all Bowel Complaints. PRATT'S ABOLITION OIL does not claim to cure all the ills which flesh is heir to, but it does claim superiority, inasmuch as it is better adapted to more prevalent ailments than any remedy in use. Circulars with full directions around each bottle. Price 50 cts. and $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

PRATT'S NEW LIFE!
Cures Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Kidney Complaints, purifies the Blood, eradicates all Scrofulous and Cutaneous Eruptions, such as Boils, Blotches, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Ring Worm, Pimples, heals Old Sores, strengthens the Stomach, invigorates the Liver, and regulates the Bowels. An infallible remedy for Piles, and Dyspepsia. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists. d18d3m

"Keeping Chinese at Home."

Here is by that Buchanan's treaty China vessels were permitted to enter our ports for the purpose of trade, but in it no inducements were offered to Chinamen to emigrate to, and become a part of this country, and Chinese emigration to [illegible] citizenship in this country, were not thought. That treaty was just the thing to keep Chinamen at home, except their sea faring men, and gave this country very advantageous commercial relations with that Empire.—Herald.

The editor of the Herald is probably the first person who ever discovered that we can have "very advantageous commercial relations" with a country and yet keep the people of that country out of our country. Unfortunately in this particular case, the facts are so patent against his theory as to make it uphill work to maintain it. Every man knows that there were Chinese in our Pacific States by tens of thousands before the Republicans got control of the Government. The recent treaty with China has been in operation less than a year, and it is the first treaty which has been made since Buchanan's. Nineteen-twentieths of all the Chinese in America must have come over before the recent treaty was negotiated; that is, they came over under the treaty that was negotiated and ratified under President Buchanan. Such were the results of the treaty "that was just the the thing to keep Chinamen at home." The fact is, if we are to have "advantageous commercial relations" with any people, there must be intercourse with that people. We cannot trade with them to any advantage and keep them out of our country. They cannot trade with us unless they are allowed to come here and do business. At this moment there are thousands of foreigners, Americans, English and French, in China; and the Chinese in turn are making their way to every country which has established commercial relations with them. Treaties of commerce, like that which Buchanan negotiated with China, are not the things to keep people "at home." The presence of the Chinese here is sufficient evidence of this fact.

The New South.

The Southern States are waking up from the lethargy caused by slavery, are putting off their exclusiveness and calling lustily for immigration. We have a copy of the first annual report of the Commissioner of Immigration for Tennessee. It sets forth the great advantages which that State offers to immigrants, and discusses the new condition of things in manner very agreeable to witness. We give the opening paragraph:

> The rebellion and its suppression have brought about an entire revolution in the industry of America; and Tennessee largely feels the powerful influence of this revolution. Before the war, the importance attached to the raising of cotton, and the obtaining of cheap food for her slaves, made Tennessee take a part in the general policy of the South, which opposed manufactures throughout the Union; so that the West, being left without a market in the East, might be compelled to furnish to the South, the cheap food she needed for her slaves. In consequence of this policy, the producers found themselves at the mercy of the planters; and the planters, in their turn, at the mercy of the English Manufacturers. At that period, in the absence of the means of of support, which a diversity of employment furnishes at every season of the year, a large portion of the citizens of Tennessee had to leave the State in order to seek employment somewhere else. The non-slaveholding whites who remained behind, were left without incitement to improve their condition; since in the absence of an intelligent and remunerative agriculture, the soil became more and more exhausted. The ever-widening gulf between the prosperity of the North and the decline of the South, then brought on the rebellion; and in sweeping away the institution of slavery, gave rise to the adoption of a policy in harmony with the laws which lie at the very foundation of the permanent prosperity of the State. Now, Tennessee is fully alive to the fact, that it is only by diversification of employment, that she can escape from the low condition to which her former policy has brought her; that she must bring to light her mineral wealth; that she must use her water power for the establishment of manufactures; and that to attain this end she needs capital, and the intelligent labor of the North and of Europe. The day of emigration, when thousands of her children sought a home in other parts of the Union, has gone by; and the day of immigration, when, by her wise policy, she invites the capital and the labor of other States and of Europe, to her borders, has come. It is a very sad experience through which she has arrived at a knowledge of her need. I do not refer to the ravages of the war, though they have been great; her saddest experience has been the impoverishing of her soil, and the decline in the scale of wealth and intelligence of a large portion of her population. But she has learned the lesson at last, and a brighter future is dawning upon her. She no longer turns to England to do her manufacturing, or to the West to furnish her with cheap food; but she endeavors, by the development of her own manufactures, to obtain a market for her farmers, being mindful of the fact, that, by a healthy competition among her own people, she is keeping within her own borders the wealth she produces, and that in consequence of it, she benefits every class of her inhabitants.

NEW PLEAS.—In many of our States the plea of insanity is becoming a most common and successful method of shielding criminals in murder trials. The practice is growing in some places to such an extent that the insanity appears to have the most perfect method in it. The newspapers are commenting on the great number of acquittals under this new plea. The success of the plea is said to be due to its comparative novelty. Almost at the start it runs into theory, then into cloudiness, and eventuates in total mystification. When court, and jury, and attorneys are all befuddled with the mightiness of the thing, and lost in labyrinthine generalities, it is easy to guess the character of the verdicts. Just now another species of legal insanity is growing popular. Pleas of Kleptomania are becoming common. Formerly, when a man had an inclination to steal which he could not resist, he was set down as the bigger rascal. But now he or she is simply diseased—suffers under an excusable attack of moral obliquity. An eastern paper, acting in the interest of justice, extends the nomenclature to a great number of offenses, with this result. Murdromania, Kleptomania, Pyromania, Burglomania, Raptomania, Falso-fabricamania, etc., etc. These will serve as fair specimens of the new pleas.

> A constitutional amendment has been offered by a Radical Congress making them (Chinese) eligible to citizenship, so that that party can use them politically.—Herald.

Of course the Herald is aware that there is no truth in this statement. In the first place, no constitutional amendment has yet been "offered by a Radical Congress." There has been a discussion about an amendment, but the two Houses have been unable to agree. In the second place, not one of the several forms in which the amendment has been proposed has a word about making the Chinese eligible to citizenship. The Herald well knows all this. Does it look well for that paper to make statements that conflict with facts with which it is obviously so conversant with?

From the Farmer we obtain the following: There are in the Salem School District 1,1[illegible] school children between the age of 4 and 21, [illegible] of whom are females, and the rest males. 4[illegible] of 900 pupils are in attendance at the various schools in the city. Expenses for the past year, $1,57[illegible]; amount paid to teachers during the past year, excluding salaries for the present term now about to close, $2,201 03.

STATE ITEMS.

The Salem paper says: The new mill of Messrs. Miller & Roots in South Salem is being pushed along at a rapid rate. The frame is up, and we understand it is the intention of the proprietors to have it in running order by the 1st of May. The mill will be three stories high with a basement. Two run of burrs will be put in for the present and it is the intention to use machinery of the most improved and substantial pattern.

A correspondent of the Advocate writes as follows about Umpqua Academy: During the past quarter this Institution has been full. Many have made application for seats, but could not be accommodated. Arrangements have been made by the trustees for seating [illegible] more students. This building was completed just in time for the exhibition. We are glad that we can now say to the people of Southern Oregon, "there is yet room," send on your sons and daughters.

A letter from Canyon City (Feb. 7) to the Mountaineer, says: The house of Charles Tobino of Dixie Creek was entered last night and some $3,000 in gold stolen. The money was in a trunk which was carried some fifty yards from the house and broken open. Several hundred dollars in greenbacks and some certificates of deposit were in the trunk, but were overlooked. No clue as yet has been discovered as to who the perpetrators are. It was the boldest and most fearless robbery ever committed in this county. Tobino was in the front room at the time the house was entered.

POLYGAMY.—The Cincinnati Gazette, in a long article on the proposed bill of Mr. Ashley to dismember Utah Territory, argues that Congress has no right to portion off the Mormon community to three or four Gentile Territories because of their polygamy, "for," says the Gazette, "Congress has never passed a law against polygamy." This is an error. Congress did pass a law against polygamy in 1863. The Mormons do not deny this, but declare their belief that it is unconstitutional. It is an ex post facto law they say, because it declares invalid all the plural marriages which took place before it was passed as well as those which have taken place since it became a law; and an ex post facto law is expressly forbidden in the Constitution. Brigham Young professes to be anxious to have the law tested, and freely solicits the arrest of himself or any of the other Saints for polygamy, boasting that he could not be convicted.

COMMERCIAL FORESIGHT.—The Philadelphia Press remarks that the concentration of influential and intelligent capital around Superior, the western terminal point on the great lakes and the eastern terminus of the coming Northern Pacific Railway, is without precedent even in the speculative history of this country. Not only are the leading capitalists of all our great cities represented in individual and corporate capacity, but English capital is already asking for a share and laying its plans for participation in the future growth and prosperity of this commercial centre. Ten years ago American commercial foresight its schemes and management for the control and manipulation of trade—was national; to-day, it is continental. And more than this, our country, with its great ocean-connecting railways, is becoming the focal object of the interest and consideration of the trade and business intellect of the world.

A PREDICTION.—Lloyd P. Smith, Librarian of the Philadelphia Library, recently delivered an address in which he predicted that there will in the future be some American who will yet give to the world its greatest poem. Milton and Dante described things which they well knew were not, or which certainly cannot exist as they described them—"the coming man will tell us of the great soul-satisfying revelations made by science of the real history of the universe—he will tell of the majestic progress of ideas; and in prophetic vision, standing on the shoulders of the generations of the past, he will see and point us to the Promised Land. He will sing that the Creation is not yet finished; that as the ammonite and trilobite have given place to man, so man himself shall be succeeded by other forms more beautiful, other souls more elevated, other beings more and yet more God like."

Union Pacific Railroad.

The January bulletin of the Union Pacific Railroad is no less wonderful than its predecessors. Fifteen hundred miles of track are now announced as laid by the two roads which are hurrying towards each other, and but two hundred and fifty miles are wanting to complete the grand through line and belt the continent. July 1 coming is fixed for the first through train.

Public interest, of course, is now directed chiefly to the approximate calculation of the probable earnings of the tremendous road as some gauge of the value of the bonds, which, with their gold interest, afford so tempting an inducement to investment.

The earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad, for the year ending June 30, 1868, were		$1,240,040 73
Net earnings after paying all expenses and interest		478,403 59
Gross earnings for six months, ending Jan. 1, 1869, were upwards of		3,000,000 00
Earnings of Central Pacific, in gold, for six months, ending Jan 1, 1869, were		$1,750,000
Expenses, in gold	$550,000
Interest, in gold	450,000	1,000,000
Net profit of Central Pacific, after paying all interest and expenses for six months		$750,000
The present gross earnings of the Union and Central Pacific Railroad, monthly, are		$1,200,000

This is satisfactory, so far as it goes, but it pales before the estimated income from the trade that will seek the through line when once completed. A search through the insurance and shipping lists proves that at least the following amount of business with California is done

Ships going from the Atlantic around Cape Horn, 100; 80,000 tons.

Steamships connecting at Panama with California and China, 55; 120,000 tons.

Overland trains, stages, horses, etc., 30,000 tons.

This, of course, will seek the quick route, and is of itself a princely revenue, without calculating on the traffic and commerce which a line of communication always opens and begets for itself. It is estimated that the present freight and travel both ways will foot up to 174,000 passengers, which, at $100 a head, will bring $17,400,000, and 160,000 tons, which, at one dollar per cubic foot, will come to $15,640,050, making a gross increase of $33,040,000. Certainly this sum should be large enough to see the corporation through.—Phila. Press.

[From the N. Y. Times, Jan. 28.]

The bill authorizing the construction of an air-line railroad from New York to Washington, now before the Senate, reopens a question which in its original shape long ago passed out of the partisan arena. The constitutional battle on the subject of national appropriations for internal improvements was practically finished in the days of Henry Clay. The right of the Government to grant money for public works in the various States was then contested and in the end upheld. The Cumberland road was the occasion of a controversy in which the respective pretensions of Federal and local power were argued with strict reference to the expressed or implied meaning of the Constitution. There were differences of opinion even among those who were favorable to the policy, considered in its bearing upon public interests, both Madison and Monroe affirming the necessity of amending the Constitution as a preliminary to the contemplated legislation. Mr. Clay's view triumphed. Congress declared itself possessed of power under the Constitution as it is to make appropriations for the construction of national works extending into various States; and the principle thus laid down has from then until now been acted upon with comparatively little opposition from any quarter. The Democratic party, as such, no longer opposes it. Now and then "strict constructionists" disinter the logic of the dead, only to be laughed at by their Western friends. For the necessities of the West have made it a unit on the subject; and appropriations for the improvement of harbors and rivers, for the construction of roads or canals, go through without suggesting other considerations than those which relate to the expediency or national character of the particular work and the ability of the Treasury to sustain the drain. In the abstract, the policy of internal improvements is all but universally accepted as within the power vested in the General Government by the organic law.

[illegible] THE OREGONIAN.

DATES TO FEBRUARY 19.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb 18.—The Senate confirmed several appointments.

Conness, from the Postal Committee reported with amendments, the steamship subsidy bill.

Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, reported, with amendments, the House bill providing for an election in Virginia. It provides for a submission of a separate portion of the constitution, an election to be held May 25th. The General Assembly is to meet in July in case the constitution is ratified. Trumbull [illegible] adversely on several bills referred to his committee.

Grimes, from the Naval Committee, reported with several amendments, the House bill to pay prize money to Farragut's officers and men who assisted in the capture of New Orleans. Also a bill to compensate the officers and crew of the Kearsarge.

Thayer introduced a bill requiring the planting of trees on homestead and pre-emption lands.

On motion of Morton the resolution was taken up to pay Senators from the Southern States, from the commencement of the Fortieth Congress. After a discussion the subject was postponed.

The Indian appropriation bill was taken up and considered until half past three, when the Senate went into executive session, and soon after took a recess.

At the evening session the credentials of Thurman, Senator from Ohio, were presented.

The Senate passed a bill to regulate the franking privilege, just as it came from the House.

Ramsey reported a bill abolishing the franking privilege after the 1st of July. Conkling moved to amend by repealing all laws conferring the franking privilege upon Congressmen. The amendment was adopted, and the bill was rejected by 16 to 18.

The Senate adjourned.

In the House, Boutwell stated that he had intended to report a bill establishing a Provisional Government for Mississippi, but being assured that the Democrats would resist the passage of such a bill by all parliamentary means, he felt obliged to abandon its presentation at present. He assured his friends, however, that he would immediately after the 4th of March test the capacity of this side of the House to pass that or a similar measure.

Eldridge, for the Democrats, intended now and at all times to resist any effort to territorialize any State of the Union.

Peters addressed the House on the New Mexico contested election case.

The House took a recess.

At the evening session the consideration of the army appropriation bill was resumed, in the Committee of the Whole.

Garfield says Grant does not desire any reduction except by absorption.

Dodge offered a substitute, placing the matter of the reduction of the army and consolidation of the Quartermaster, Subsistence and Paymaster's Departments in the hands of the President after March 4th. The substitute was adopted.

Butler's amendment was agreed to by a vote of 57 to 56.

The vote to lay the bank bill on the table was reconsidered. Pomeroy moved that the bill be recommitted with instructions to report back the first three sections.

Coburn moved to amend and instruct the committee to report back the fourth section as amended yesterday by his substitute. Carried—87 to 76. Other instructions were offered and rejected. A motion to table the bill was lost—84 to 96. Pomeroy's motion, as amended by Coburn, was then adopted without division. A substitute was offered by Dodge, when the committee rose and reported the bill to the House. Pomeroy immediately reported back the bill as instructed. The bill passed—106 to 77.

Blaine offered a substitute which amends Butler's and Dodge's. It provides that until the army is reduced to twenty infantry, five cavalry, and five artillery regiments, no new commissions shall be issued to any regiment. It directs the Secretary of War to consolidate regiments as rapidly as the requirements of the service and the regulations of the officers will permit till the afore said minimum is reached. Also, that till further provided by law there shall be no new appointments in the Adjutant's, Inspector General's, pay, or Quartermaster's, or Ordnance, or Medical Departments. Without a vote on the amendment the House adjourned.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Feb 18.—A majority of the Senate Pacific Railroad Committee are preparing a report on the bill granting aid to the Northern Pacific railroad. It recites the considerations which induced them to adopt the policy of extending the government credit to the railroad lines.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs have unanimously agreed to recommend the rejection of the Alabama treaty. They have also agreed to favorably recommend the naturalization treaty, also the treaty leaving to the Government of Switzerland the arbitration of the San Juan Island dispute.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The President has refused to pardon Col. Enright, now in prison for frauds on the revenue.

The Sun's Washington special says Grant yesterday told a Republican member of Congress that he had no idea of selecting any member of his cabinet who was not with that party during the war, or who has not acted with it since. He would consider any other course an insult to the party which elected him.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Mr. Butler's amendment to the army bill was adopted by the House last night. It discontinues the office of generals after the 4th of March. The office of lieutenant general will not be filled when the vacancy occurs. It reduces the number of major generals to three and brigadiers six.

The Republican's special says the Senate Postal Committee has agreed to report the bill directing the Postmaster General to contract with the New York & Antwerp Steamship Co. for the transportation of mails in the steamships built in the United States, touching at Southampton. It contains no subsidy whatever beyond the inland and ocean postage.

The opinion prevails that there will be a long session after the 4th of March.

Several appropriation bills will probably not be reached by the present Congress.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—James Weaver and Jas McQuade were arrested on a charge of robbery of $120,000 of United States Pacific Railroad bonds from the First National Bank of New Windsor, Maryland, and were taken to Maryland to-day on a requisition from the Governor. One hundred thousand of the money was found in their possession and identified by the officers of the Bank.

Western Union Telegraph company, $37@38.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 18.—James F. Babcock was nominated by the Democrats for Congress in the Second District.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 18.—The steamer Glendale took fire in the pilot house seven miles above this city to day. The boat was run ashore, the women and children safely landed and the captain and crew extinguished the flames by the most heroic efforts. The damage was slight and nobody hurt.

OTTAWA, C. W., Feb. 18.—The Newfoundland Legislature has voted against the adoption of the address in reply to the Governor's speech recommending union with Canada.

OSWEGO, Feb. 18.—The Delaware and Lackawanna railroad has purchased and leased three lines of road, forming an independent and direct route from the seaboard to Lake Ontario.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Benjamin Jay, a distinguished temperance advocate, died suddenly to day, at his residence in Penn Yan.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, Feb. 18.—Engagements are reported with the insurgent troops in the vicinity of Cienfuegos.

Two thousand troops are expected to-morrow from Spain.

The Spanish are confident that the rebellion will finally be suppressed. The authorities are filling the prisons with suspected parties and the emigration of Cubans is increasing.

Several tugs have arrived and the Government is arming them and cruisers along the coast, and landing parties for the interior.

Cordova has arrived. Senor Adrian, a Spanish official [illegible] taken a prisoner.

Sugar is less active.

KEY WEST, Feb. 18.—One hundred and thirty-seven Cuban refugees arrived yesterday. More are arriving.

Nevada Dispatch.

VIRGINIA CITY, Feb. 18.—Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped to-night [illegible] bars of bullion, weighing [illegible] pounds, valued at $8,[illegible].

Weather pleasant and mild. Snow fast disappearing.

Three new cases of small pox were reported yesterday but no deaths for several days.

S[illegible] the Imperial mine workmen still imprisoned. Report says the indications are favorable. The drift is to be run [illegible] feet further.

Rich ore has been struck in the [illegible]. Reports from other mines are generally favorable.

The exodus for White Pine continues as active as ever. The city is dull in consequence.

Work on the Virginia and Truckee railroad was commenced in this city to-day, and will be prosecuted with the utmost energy until it is completed.

The passengers, mails and express arrived very nearly on time to-night.

From Cuba.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The Herald's Havana special says the Captain General has issued a decree closing all the ports where there are no custom houses.

Quesada had arrived at Jiquani, from Santiago, having fought his way the whole distance.

The insurgent chiefs are reported constantly on the move.

A dispatch from Santiago on the 13th says that more estates have been burnt.

The cholera is raging; 22 deaths have occurred. Many of the troops are in the hospital.

Advices from Guantanamo say sugar is arriving rapidly. The insurrection reduces the crop 20,000 hogsheads.

A dispatch from Manzanillo says Bayamo has 1,100 refugees, mostly women and children.

The troops were harrassed all the way by the insurgents.

The Tribune has a letter from an American in Cuba, connected with the revolutionists, which says the Provisional Government is practically in operation and harmonious. The revolution is spreading.

The Provisional government propose a general emancipation, equal political rights to all colors and suffrage based on education and property qualifications applied to all alike.

Wealthy patriots have all emancipated their slaves, many of whom are armed. No proposition from the Spaniards will be listened to. Nothing short of independence is desired. When that is established Cuba hopes to obtain the protection of the United States with a view of ultimate annexation.

She will load with lumber and proceed to San Francisco early in March, where her machinery will be put into her.

A steam engine has been set up in Jerusalem. This will prove a second temple greater than the first. We can imagine science calling upon the world, as Solomon did, "Send me now therefore, a man cunning to work in gold and in silver and in brass, and in iron and in purple and crimson and blue, and that can skill to grave with the cunning men that are with me in Judah and in Jerusalem, whom David my father did provide." The call has been answered. "To build his temple," Solomon "numbered all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and they were found a hundred and fifty thousand and three thousand and six hundred. And he set three score and ten thousand of them to be bearers of burdens, and four-score thousand to be hewers in the mountains, and three thousand and six hundred overseers to set the people a work." The second temple has been set up by a few men without any ostentation. The first made of Jerusalem the most interesting city of the East, the latter will, with its silent forces, make it more powerful and beautiful than Solomon in all his glory did.

GENERAL PARAGRAPHS

By Overland Mail.

E. A. POLLARD AND COLLECTOR SMYTHE.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan. 27, 1869.

E. A. Pollard, in a published letter to-day, says the statements made by Collector Smythe to the Committee on Retrenchment, in relation to his connection with the New York Custom House, are utterly false. First, the Collector's allegation that the name E. M. Pollard misled him as to the character of the individual, Pollard calls a paltry falsehood, Smythe being intimately acquainted with him and family, and the mistake in the initial letters of his name in the appointment was corrected by direction of Smythe. Second, as to the oath taken, Pollard hesitated only at the phrase "Support to the enemies of the United States," which Smythe's Secretary explained did not incapacitate him more than it did Wood or Vallandigham. Third, Pollard states that, instead of removing him, the Collector induced him to resign, on the distinct agreement that he, Pollard, might continue to draw his salary, assigning as a reason that his appointment seriously embarrassed Smythe's confirmation as Minister to Russia. The plan agreed upon, that Pollard should send in his resignation at the request of Smythe, was at once carried into effect, but Pollard has not received any salary beyond the month of December, in the latter part of which he resigned. He concludes his letter by accusing Smythe of deception and of commencing his diplomatic career by diplomatizing him out of his situation, which was procured through the influence of powerful friends.

RESTORING REBEL OFFICERS.

[From the New York Sun, Jan. 28.]

The Attorney General has given an opinion that "a remission of the penalty by pardon necessarily carries with it the restoration of the officer to his pre-existing capacity and rights, under the law of the service, to occupy a place on the list of his grade appropriate to the date of his commission, the officer losing, of course, such opportunities for promotion as may in the meantime have occurred." It would probably strike the country as a little unjust if, under the construction of the President's amnesty proclamation, all the officers who left the army to join in the rebellion should be restored to the rank they held when they quit. They too probably would not meet with a very warm reception. Nor would the fact that they have lost "opportunities for promotion" during the war be a very adequate consolation.

UNIVERSAL PEACE UNION.

[From the Philadelphia Press.]

The American branch of the Universal Peace Union was recently in session in Washington. The following resolution was passed: "That all ideas of punishment, both in human and divine government, should be done away with as at war with the law of love. The present system of discipline in the family, the school and the prison, founded on this idea, is unworthy of the civilization of to-day, to say nothing of Christianity." Representative men and women were present from various States. The President stated, amid great applause that he had learned from Governor Geary that Hester Vaughan, some time since sentenced to death in Philadelphia for killing her infant child, would not be executed, and that Jay Cooke would pay her passage home to England.

The Alaska Fur Trade.

It is officially reported that the Russian American Fur Company, from the small prices paid to the hunters of Alaska, must realize over one thousand per cent. upon the first cost of the skins. The Russian American Company have for the last fifteen years kept employed in their trade from twelve to fifteen steam sailing vessels, all built or purchased by themselves. Their exports between the years 1842 and 1862 were as follows: 1,862,122 skins, of various fur breeding animals, of which 372,894 were of the fur seal, and 808,000 were of the mink. Besides this, they exported during the same time, 9,000 pounds of Castoreum, 8,208 pieces of Beaver tail, and 40,578 pieces of paws. Castoreum is a substance of strong penetrating smell, of a light brown or yellowish color when fresh, and of a reddish brown when dried. It is obtained from two secretory sacs, one in each groin of the beaver, and is used as a medicine for its supposed antispasmodic properties. The Islands of St. Paul and St. George are asserted to be very rich in seal fur, and the assignees of the Russian American Fur Company, and other persons, are in Washington endeavoring to obtain the sole right of conducting the fisheries on the islands of St. Paul and St George and the Aleutian islands. A bill introduced into Congress proposes to limit the number of seals to be killed annually on the island of St. Paul to 75,000, and upon the island of St. George to 25,000. This number, it is stated, can be captured without exhausting the supply.

Several bills on the Alaska fur trade are now under the consideration of the Committee on Commerce, and it is conjectured that a law will be passed dividing the islands into sections, establishing intervals during which hunting shall not be allowed in certain sections, and fixing the largest number to be taken from each annually, so as not to exhaust the supply; prohibiting the use of firearms on the islands (which scatters and drives the seals away if practiced too much), and forcing a continuance of the old custom of using spears and arrows; preventing the sale of intoxicating liquors to the inhabitants, taxing the skins one dollar each, and empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to dispose of the right to engage in the traffic at the highest price per annum obtainable from responsible parties, for each section separately, with a view of giving the opportunity to all who wish to engage in the trade, and cheapen furs by breaking up the old monopoly and preventing a new one.
